A scientist has discovered that at an altitude of 2000 feet on the Swiss mountains there are absolutely no miprobes. All who are suffering from gorm scare, superinduced by ingenious-ly devised tales of woe regarding the ravages of the ubiquitous, multifarious microbe, will be relieved to know that there is at least one locality upon this mundane sphere where this much-dreaded organism does not enjoy the right of eminent domain.

Large Mute Shipment.

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 19.-The first shipment of the 2000 mules now being purchased in Fort Worth for the use of the British army in the Transvanl was made yesterday morning over the Texas and Pacific to New Orleans. Seven hundred constituted the first lot, and they went out in two trains. The English purchasing agents are completing the buying as fast as inspection can be carried on, and will probably be ready to send out the remaining 1300 by next Saturday. One hundred were purchased yesterday. The plan of inspection does not differ materially from that employed in the commissary department of the United States army. The animais are vigorously exercised to test their action and wind, and a minute descriptien is then taken as to age, size, weight, color, marks, braids and blemishes. They are then branded with the letters "V. R." on the right boof and the number of the animal on the left hoof. The mules are generally small size and range in price from $49

Planting Feens Orchards.

ware. Tex., Oct. 19.-Planting ecan orchards is to progress on an atensive scale in Lampasas, Hamilton, an Saba and Comanche counties, con-iderable capital having been invested by persons whose faith grew out of baervation of the success of others in hat line. Several Texans are intereated with northern men in planting pecan trees and in establishing farms with pecan orchards as a side line,

Mr. S. T. Ramsey, who has been in Texas for ten years, having removed to this state from Maryland, purchased a body of land in Lampasas county, and he says he will put at least 100 acres in improved pecan trees, fully believing that within five years he will e in possession of an income from the sale of pecans which will make him wholly independent of cotton raising.

Mr. Rumsey says almost all the land in southwestern Texas is suitable for growing pecan trees, capable of yielding the highest grade nuts. He said in pecans intend to establish an elevator for seperating sizes and polishing the nuts. Orders for pecans are coming in now, not only from the northern buyers, but from points in Europe. I am lead to believe from observation that within the next ten years, owing to increase of pecan planting and reduction of the cotton area, more money will be brought to Texas to pay for pecans than for cotton grown in this state. Pecan culture safest ventures to make. The only chance of failure is for one to begin on too large a scale for his me as, If dependent upon his annual crops for his living he can well afford to lay off about ten acres and plant that area in pecan trees, only working at the pecan venture when he has time to spare.

Well selected trees, properly planted and properly attended to afterward, will begin to yield fruit in five years and in eight years years will be supplying enough to bring a large income.

I cannot see why tree planters should not give pocan trees the preference over any other when planting in pastures for shade and on lawns. It is
